Dear Congressman Hudson and Congressman Butterfield:

On behalf of the American Hospital Association's (AHA) nearly 5,000 member hospitals, health systems and other health care organizations, and our 43,000 individual members, I am writing to express our support for H.R. 4365, the Protecting Patient Access to Emergency Medications Act of 2016.

Hospital emergency departments (EDs) provide immediate care to the critically injured and ill. EDs stand ready – 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year – to deliver the most advanced medical care available in their communities. Emergency Medical Services (EMS) provide critical triage, treatment and transportation of patients to the ED to ensure access to life-saving care during medical emergencies.

EMS practitioners are often called on to administer medications during the crucial moments between when they first reach a patient and when they arrive at an ED with access to a wider range of emergency care services. H.R. 4365 would clarify that medications governed by the Controlled Substances Act (CSA) may be administered by EMS practitioners pursuant to a standing order issued by a physician medical director of an EMS agency. If EMS practitioners cannot rely on standing orders to authorize administration of medications governed by the CSA, treatment may be delayed for patients in pain or experiencing other significant symptoms.

We applaud your efforts to clarify the role of standing orders while protecting the continuity of existing EMS operations and oversight structures around the country. We also appreciate that the legislation continues to allow hospital-based EMS agencies to use their hospital's Drug Enforcement Administration registration so that no new administrative burdens are placed on hospital-based EMS agencies.
